KEY INGREDIENTS FOR MY MOST EFFECTIVE LEADERSHIP VISIT

Benchmarking, collaboration and networking are among the cornerstones of what make the Commerce Lexington Inc. Leadership Visits so popular and well attended. Each and every participant has the opportunity to reach their own goals and business potential during the trip, and to enhance Lexington and our region through common connections and partnerships.

In the same way that a recipe contains multiple ingredients, there are many important aspects of every community that make it unique - all the way from the company level to the individual level. During this session, we'll ask you to identify the "key ingredients" that will help you achieve the most effective Leadership Visit for you and create linkages with other participants toward common goals for our region.

Benchmarking

It's often said that seeing is believing, and that is certainly the case with Leadership Visits. What do you hope or expect this trip will impact both in terms of your business/job and our region?

Collaborating

Leadership Visits provide a level of collaboration that is second-to-none. Without constant collaboration and idea-sharing, the pace of progress slows considerably. What connections will help jump-start your projects or initiatives, and improve our community?

Networking

The CLX Leadership Visits are popular, because people want to network with like-minded people to build their own business or organization. Who do you need to meet during this trip in order to achieve your goals or projects?
