Whether large, small or in between, when businesses succeed the entire community benefits. We’re proud to support Commerce Lexington and the contributions of companies in the Minority Business Resource Guide. When it’s good for business, it’s good for Lexington.

lexmark.com
Since the mid-1990’s, Commerce Lexington Inc. and its predecessor, the Greater Lexington Chamber of Commerce, along with its many partners through the community, have championed the efforts of minority-owned businesses. The programs provided by Commerce Lexington’s Community and Minority Business Development division continue to exceed expectations by offering a level of service that is unmatched in many communities.

Minority- and women-owned businesses are important segments of our region’s successful economy. In fact, according to the U.S. Small Business Administration, they out-pace other businesses in terms of growth, while participating in a wide variety of industries.

Commerce Lexington’s Community & Minority Business Development (CMBD) program works to promote and sustain the economic growth, development and self-sufficiency of ethnic minority-owned business owners and entrepreneurs. Minority businesses are offered strategic and business planning, procurement assistance, access to lending tools, and the expertise of a full complement of economic professionals.

Commerce Lexington launched a Minority Business Accelerator in 2013. The opportunity has been in place to assist scalable minority businesses that have the best opportunity to partner with large entities and companies and grow jobs here in the Fayette County-MSA. To date, the program has assisted members with an amazing of $31 million dollars in new business. The possibilities are still endless as we search for new minority-owned businesses to take part in the program.

In addition, one of Commerce Lexington’s longstanding programs, the Access Loan Program through its 26 lenders, has closed over $24 million in small business loans ranging from $8K to $2.8 million. One-third of those loans were received by minority-owned businesses. During the pandemic select members of the Access Loan Committee volunteered hundreds of hours to assist Commerce Lexington, Inc staff in funding $6.9 million in emergency grants to small businesses throughout Fayette County. An average of 55% of those grants went to minority & women-owned businesses.

Commerce Lexington’s achievements in minority business and other key areas are certainly not a secret in the chamber world. After being recognized and the nation’s top chamber of commerce in 2016 by the Association of Chamber of Commerce Executives, we have entertained many visits from other chambers to study our best practices and take them back to their respective homes.

There continues to be a steadfast dedication to the sustainability and growth of all our member businesses. Great programs like the Business Owners Advisory Boards, our @330 Series, the Member-to-Member Discount Program, and our economic development team can assist businesses from the start-up phase to growth into a major employer. These are all important points, because as the chamber world is certainly getting on-board with the development and growth of minority- and women-owned businesses, your local chamber has been at the forefront of this important segment of our economy since the early 2000’s.

As you read this letter, think of how you, as an emerging business owner, can take advantage of these services and opportunities to create a different and more exciting future for your business and the people you employ. It’s time to get on board and reach for the stars, Central Kentucky!

VOLO Careers International Receives Minority Business Award

During the 2022 Salute to Small Business Awards Luncheon presented by Forcht Bank, VOLO Careers International owned by Everett Bracken received the Minority Business Award, which recognizes an exceptional ethnically-owned member business, defined as a business that is 51-percent owned, operated, and controlled by a person within the following racial and ethnic groups: African American; Hispanic American; or Asian American.

VOLO Careers International is a global executive recruiting firm headquartered in Lexington. For three decades, it has specialized in identifying senior-level female leaders – Board, CEO, and C-Suite – across thirty industries worldwide. In Kentucky, VOLO has worked with Ashland, Lexmark, and Tempur Sealy.

For Everett Bracken, the entrepreneurial spirit struck after he served in the First Gulf War with the U.S. Army and while he was working for a Fortune 100 company. As chair of the company’s diversity council, Everett noticed that many organizations struggled with the under-representation of women in leadership roles.

Founded in 1997, VOLO landed its first client, Miller Brewing Company, in Milwaukee. Within 24 hours, the firm identified a large pool of exceptional diverse talent.

With the help of his family and friends, VOLO landed more U.S.-based companies, and each successful assignment led to referrals at well-known companies like Carrier, Coors Brewing Company, Goodyear, and Shell Oil to name a few.

Today, the company is registered on the U.S. Government’s primary supplier database as a Service-Disabled Veteran-Owned Business; Veteran-Owned Business; Minority-Owned Business; and Asian-Pacific American Owned Business.
