MESSAGE FROM THE VICE CHAIR

Commerce Lexington, along with its many partners in the community, have championed the efforts of minority-owned businesses. The programs provided by Commerce Lexington's Community and Minority Business Development Division continue to exceed expectations by offering a level of service that is unmatched in many communities.

Minority- and women-owned businesses are important segments of our region's successful economy. In fact, according to the U.S. Small Business Administration, they outpace other businesses in terms of growth, while participating in a wide variety of industries.

Commerce Lexington's Community & Minority Business Development (CMBD) program works to promote and sustain the economic growth, development and self-sufficiency of ethnic minority-owned business owners and entrepreneurs. Minority businesses are offered strategic and business planning, procurement assistance, access to lending tools, and the expertise of a full complement of economic professionals.

Recently, Commerce Lexington celebrated ten years of the Minority Business Accelerator. The opportunity has been put in place to assist scalable minority businesses that have the best opportunity to partner with large entities and companies and grow jobs here in the Fayette County MSA. To date, the program has assisted members with contracts of $69.7 million dollars. The possibilities are still endless as we search for new minority-owned businesses to take part in the program.

With access to capital being the number one driver in growing a successful small business, one of Commerce Lexington's longstanding programs, the Access Loan Program through its 26 lenders, has facilitated $25.4 million dollars in loans to small businesses. Almost one-third of those loans were received by minority-owned businesses.

It has been seven years since Commerce Lexington was recognized as the nation's top chamber of commerce by the Association of Chamber of Commerce Executives. We have not remained idle. Since then, we have entertained many visits from other chambers to study our best practices and take them back to their respective homes. During the pandemic, the Community & Minority Business Development Division was chosen by the Lexington-Fayette Urban County government as the administrator of $7.5 million in small business grants. The grants allowed small businesses to recoup some of their losses and open their businesses after a six-week shutdown. The small business grant requests were evaluated by a stellar group of volunteer lenders, and one of our local banks issued the funds. It was a win-win for Lexington and its small business community.

To complement programs like the Business Owners Advisory Boards and the Member-to-Member Discount Program, Commerce Lexington began offering a 6-week small business training program called Money Smart for Small Business. The Money Smart Program is SBA sanctioned and offered through the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) platform. We've had over 85 business owners take advantage of this training to fortify their businesses. These are just some of the opportunities that we offer to assist small and minority businesses with the growth and sustainability they need to survive and thrive. Commerce Lexington plans to stay at the forefront of assistance to small and minority-owned businesses.

As you read this letter, think of how you, as an emerging business owner, can take advantage of these services and opportunities to create a different and more exciting future for your business and the people you employ. It's time to get on board and reach for the stars, Central Kentucky!

Money Smart Alliance Member, Commerce Lexington hosts financial literacy course.

RACIAL EQUITY PLEDGE

Commerce Lexington Inc.'s Racial Equity Pledge challenges the region's business community to build a more inclusive economy based on equal opportunity and advancing racial equity. By signing this pledge, we commit to pursuing inclusivity and equality for underrepresented and marginalized community groups and agree to increase efforts and transparency around conscious efforts to attack poverty, narrow the racial wealth gap, and increase equity for area residents.

We recognize that living up to this pledge requires a necessary and comprehensive overhaul of the status quo, however, we are ready to seize the opportunity to create sustainable solutions over a multi-year horizon that will position Commerce Lexington Inc. as a leader in this work.

Signing this pledge is an agreement to pursue change intentionally and consistently within our business and the broader community. As business leaders, our time in history is now and our action matters, now more than ever. We pledge to make a difference by working toward minority business economic inclusion and actively supporting underrepresented and marginalized businesses and talent.

MINORITY BUSINESS AWARD

The JCC Group is Recipient of 2024 Minority Business Award

During the 2024 Salute to Small Business Awards Luncheon presented by Forcht Bank, The JCC Group received the Minority Business Award, which recognizes an exceptional ethnically-owned member business, defined as a business that is 51-percent owned, operated, and controlled by a person within the following racial and ethnic groups: African American; Hispanic American; or Asian American.

The JCC Group is a consortium of companies focused on providing quality services in the areas of bookkeeping, payroll, tax, and accounting, as well as insurance and IT consulting. The business got its start in 2008 as JCC Consulting Group when its founder Juan Carlos Castro – whose initials make up the JCC – wanted to leverage his years of accounting experience to ensure that small businesses and organizations specifically within the Hispanic community had access to reliable and professional services.

Initially, the business focused on working with nonprofits and government entities. A few years later, JCC Consulting Group identified a need for skilled professionals in accounting, bookkeeping and tax preparation. By 2014, those services outpaced the growth of others within the business, and soon after, JCC Accounting spun off to become its own division within the group as the premier accounting and bookkeeping services provider in the Lexington region.

While the accounting arm grew, the need for a seasoned insurance professional became essential to serve clients seeking commercial insurance, and others in the areas of commercial general liability and workers' compensation insurance. That led to the creation of JCC Insurance Group, which began operating in 2018, and was recently named the top independent agency with Liberty Mutual Commercial lines in Kentucky and among the Smart Choice Group umbrella.

Today, Juan, Victor and Francisco Castro continue to operate The
